MEET THE PEOPLE BEHIND MEYER RANCH

Founded in Chicago in 1919, The Henry Crown Companies started as a family-owned building material business. Through hard work and perseverance, the company has humbly grown into one of the largest privately held businesses and land developers in the United States. From coast to coast, we're proud to have a parent company with such diverse and inspiring endeavors, including American favorites such as New York City's iconic Rockefeller Center and the Ojai Resort in Ojai, California.

In 1947, the Crown Family allocated a portion of their business profits to create a foundation that would give back to the country and communities that have provided them with opportunities for prosperity. In a spirit of tikkun olam—which means repairing the world—we've worked in tandem with our communities to catalyze and advance a just and lasting social impact in critical need areas that include education, the environment, health and human services, global health, and the Jewish community.

RANDOLPH TODD DEVELOPMENT

Randolph Todd Development was formed in 2013 by founding members Randy Rollo and Todd McCullough. With over 60 years of combined residential and commercial experience, Randolph Todd Development is well positioned to meet the increasing demand for exceptional communities in central Texas.
